THE ART AND SCIENCE OF HUMAN PERFORMANCE

The Conrad Consulting Group helps organization's boost their results through transforming the way their employees think about themselves and others, enabling them to be more productive and work together more effectively.

The human brain is a brilliant machine. Yet, researchers have consistently demonstrated that traditional intelligence, or IQ, is not enough for people to perform at a consistently high level, particularly under stress.

Few things are as stressful to people as change. Mergers, reorganizations, rapid growth, downsizing, new leadership, increased workforce and customer diversity—all present remarkable organizational challenges and opportunities. For many organizations, these challenges prove costly in terms of their inability to attract, develop, and retain talent, or provide products and services that appeal to an ever-changing marketplace.

The Conrad Consulting Group helps organizations get it right. We not only help employees be resilient through dramatic change, we present an innovative approach that enables them to emerge from change better and stronger. Our groundbreaking work in emotional, social and cultural intelligence represents the new frontier in understanding and managing human performance.

KEYNOTE SPEAKING

Dr. Conrad is a refreshing speaker with the uncanny ability to connect with people and inspire them to change. He regularly shares his passion and unique perspective with audiences all over the world, helping people overcome their personal and professional obstacles through better understanding themselves and others.

TRAINING

The Conrad Consulting Group offers half-day, full-day, and multi-day interactive seminars and workshops designed to boost your organization's performance. At the core of each of our programs is emotional intelligence, the ability to recognize and regulate one's emotions while responding effectively to the emotional needs of others.

COACHING

The primary reason leaders get derailed is not because of deficient technical skills, but because of lack of emotional intelligence. Dr. Conrad offers one-on-one coaching for leaders seeking to improve these skills, which include self-awareness, assertiveness, conflict management, stress management, interpersonal relationships, and understanding diversity. Coaching is delivered through a combination of assessments, case studies and on- the-job practice.

CONSULTING

Globalization, technological innovation and rapid demographic change are just a few of the complicating factors that test today's organizational leaders. Although these challenges seem daunting, they bring with them a myriad of opportunities. Since it is clear that the only true sustainable source of competitive advantage is human capital, leaders will need to possess not only well-developed intellectual abilities, but also equally impressive social and emotional skills to guide their organizations through this challenging maze.

The Conrad Consulting Group can help leaders build environments that attract, develop, reward and retain talent so that can successfully navigate through these challenges and emerge better and stronger.
